

Script for Challenging Meetings, Anaheim 2017, Faculty Meeting

Faculty member calling the meeting:

You need to meet with a faculty member to give difficult feedback about their teaching on the clerkship.

You are the CD for the FM clerkship.

The students wrote that the preceptor is difficult to work with because she is intimidating and soul crushing, she does not provide ongoing feedback and declines to complete the midpoint feedback in writing, and she asked the student if the student had been held back; the student had been held back and the student was distraught about this question.

Faculty member being asked to attend the meeting:

You are looking forward to meeting with the CD of the FM Clerkship. The subject of the meeting is “professional development” so you surmise that you are doing an excellent job working with the students on the clerkship.
